Management of various types of degradable and non-degradable wastes

Solid Waste Management

Waste is collected daily from various sources using color-coded and labelled dustbins, each designated for a specific type of waste. Lectures, notice board advertisements, and campus slogan boards are used to teach teachers and students on appropriate waste management procedures.

Liquid Waste Management:

Soak Pit: Porous layers of bricks, graded stones, and sand make up a soak pit, which aids in the treatment of wastewater and permits the ground to absorb treated water. Waste water generated during the practical in chemistry laboratory is discharged into specially designed soak pit.

E-waste Management: Our technician repaired old monitors and CPUs so they may be utilised again. The institute has a memorandum of understanding with the Environmental Conservation Association (ECA), an NGO active in Pune and Pimpri Chinchwad. Institute has tie ups with the local municipal corporation (PCMC) and in support with them institute manages the solid and liquid waste and hazardous chemicals waste management.

E-Waste Management

Biomedical Waste Management: The institute has an agreement with Pimpri-Chinchwad Municipal Corporation's PASSCO Environmental Solutions, Pimpri. We follow the waste disposal procedure as per the norms of PASSCO. For the disposal of biological waste, we use 2 types of the bags i.e., red biohazard bag and yellow biohazard bag. Red biohazard bags are used to collect anatomical waste including human body fluids like semen, saliva, tissues, organs and animal carcasses. Yellow biohazard bags are used to dispose of clinical waste like swabs, dressings, tissues, soiled gloves and aprons. These wastes collected from the college were further processed by PASSCO.
